Managing Partner, West Sussex firm

"Hayley has placed several key members of staff (solicitors) with my department over the last six months or so. She takes time to understand my requirements and passes on details of some suitable and great candidates and genuinely matches the right people for the role. Communications are great, and she's still checking in with me re staff who have been with my firm for a few months. My new colleagues also say good things about her, so I'd recommend Hayley to employers and employees."

Head of Private Client, London firm

"I was battling to find solicitors who were the right fit, it was taking too long and then the candidates were not great. Then I found Harvey John and every single time I have got a candidate quickly who was the perfect fit. Harvey John listens to what you want, searches thoroughly in the market and find you people, who are right each time. What more could you want."
